HARRELL'S STORE, New Hanover county, N. C., October 10th, 1851. WM. H. LIPPITT, Esq.—
Dear Sir:—It is with pleasure I state that I have used your Specific for the cure of Dysentery, Diarrhoa, &c., and have found it to produce the desired effect in every case I used it, after the usual remedies have failed. I recommend it with confidence to the public. Respectfully, &c., J. B. SEAVEY, M. D. SAVANNAH, Ga., December 26th, 1851.—Mr. Wm. H. Lip-TIT, -Dear Sir :- It is with pleasure I acknowledge the wonderful effects of your Medicine for curing Diarrhoa or Bowel complaint, as I am satisfied it was the means, under God, of saving the life, first of my Child and then of my Brother .-As my Brother was given up by two of the most eminent Physicians in this place, Drs. Richardson and Gregg, and when I consulted the latter as to the propriety of trying it on him so though somewhat prepared for a result of the low, he said I might to satisfy myself that I had left nothing kind, did not anticipate such a decided prostrause to him. But thank God he was mistaken, as we saw the salutary effects in 24 hours, and in ten days he was able to nearly a minute, endeavoring to cheer him by ble manner at Chusan, while I was there. An Engbe out of bed. I remain yours, very truly and gratefully, Dress of Young French Girls. A habit prevails in France in regard to the dress of young unmarried ladies in the wealthier classes, so entirely different from our own system that it is worthy of mention. All young ladies, till the day lo's-occupation's gone," I remarked to a friend near of their marriage, must dress plainly and cheaplyme, " Poor fellow! I fear that a consciousness of they must not, even in company, wear jewelry, flounces or ribbons to any extent. The mother may carry into company ten times the value that her never failed, in this particular point, to elicit less daugh: er can. And it is astonishing how the old women of France do dress. One might very well take their modestly-dressed daughters at their side for a family instructress or a favorite servant. Not only must the daughters dress plainly and modestly. but they must never move out of sight of their mothers or chaperones, nor speak to a gentleman without permission, until they are married; then custom allows them to make up for lost time, and so far as I have been able to observe, they do make it up with a vengeance. The study of the fashion is very apt to become at once a mania with them, and unless they are gratified to the full extent of their desires, the husband very often becomes a sufferer in more ways than one. A Frenchman, however, cannot resist the fascinations of a French woman, and he generally yields to all her wishes, if he even sacrifices his happiness in other particulars.
